

IEEE Healthcom 2024

18–20 November 2024 // Nara, Japan

Call for Posters

IEEE Healthcom 2024 aims at bringing together interested parties (universities, research centers, industries and stakeholders) from around the world working in the healthcare field to exchange opinions, discuss brand-new ideas, developing innovative and emerging solutions, and establishing new collaborations.

The conference will host a poster session dedicated to contributions of PhD students and Young Researchers (less than 3 years after graduation) in the following thematic areas (but not limited to):

- Artificial intelligent and machine learning for health
- Digital Health services and applications
- Personalized and connected care
- Medical wearables and devices
- Telecommunication networks and signal processing for health
- Internet of Medical Things (IoMT)
- Data and multimedia communications for healthcare applications
- Security, privacy and ethics based healthcare applications

Posters are intended to present initial results that are worthwhile to the community.

Poster Sessions will be held during the regular conference days, with dedicated time-slots.

Poster Submission Guidelines

Interested parties are invited to submit a ONE (1) page abstract paper along with their brief curriculum vitae (including history of education employment and publications). Each submission should specify the thematic area of interest.

The accepted submission will present their research activities in the form of a poster and a demo. It is important that you present your poster and demo during the scheduled poster session. Your poster and presentation will be evaluated further to select the poster session winner. The winner will receive a prize.

The final version of each accepted poster must be printed on an A1 sheet.

To submit your poster abstract and curriculum vitae, please use the EDAS system, or directly use this link:
